

Invitation to Pre-Tour & Free Accommodation for ICE 2012

- Arrival & check-in : Aug. 17 (Fri), Dormitory of Kyungpook National University, Daegu
- Excursion to Yecheon : Aug. 18 (Sat) ~ 19 (Sun), 2012
The 2nd Insect Bio-EXPO 2012, Yecheon County, Korea
The 2nd International Symposium, Insect Bio-Industry: Achievement & Challenge (2nd ISIBI Yecheon, Korea)
- Complementary stay during ICE week : Aug. 25 (Sat) check-out

In preceding to the ICE period, Kyungpook National University and Yecheon County, Korea, have planned to organize a special symposium, Insect Bio-Industry: Achievement & Challenge (ISIBI-II) in Yecheon, Korea, where the 2nd Insect Bio-EXPO, one of the largest exhibition and festival in insect industry, is held from July 28 ~ August 19, 2012. The symposium is consisted of 10 plenary sessions presenting various areas of insect industry contributed by global entomologists (The list of 10 invited speakers with their topics will be given later).

To extend international friendship introducing the local insect festival, our invitation is open to any ICE participants although we would like to select only 100 participants due to funding supports. The selection will be allocated by country, sex, family, student or professional group.

The accepted applicants are cordially invited to this excursion scheduled from August 18 ~ 19, 2012, for symposium as well as EXPO which will be a good chance to learn not only scientific knowledge about insect industry but also Korean culture. During this excursion the participants will taste a traditional temple stay at Yongmun-sa, which is a very famous millennial temple in Yecheon County.

We will provide an accommodation of Kyungpook National University, locating 1 mile south from EXCO (ICE venue) for 8 nights : Aug. 17 (Fri) ~ 25 (Sat) including ICE week, sharing bedrooms, shower & toilets, with half board meals as KNU students' standard.

On the first day (Aug. 17, Friday), for registration and check-in, all the participants should be arrived at the office of Dormitory, Kyungpook National University in Daegu (www.knu.ac.kr). We also provide transportations (Daegu - Yecheon), proceeding, temple stay program, entrance ticket for EXPO, welcome and farewell banquets during this excursion. Besides, the round air ticket for economy class will be paid to 10 invited speakers of the symposium. However, the only disadvantage may be your absence in the ICE opening ceremony, as we are scheduled to attend the closing events of EXPO in Yecheon and then return to Daegu at late night on that Sunday. The accommodation with shared shower & toilet may cause unpleasant stay for you. Please join this program and enjoy everything you may experience there as a free-tour before ICE, along with a complementary stay in our campus accommodation during ICE period.

The information about how to travel to Daegu is available in the ICE website: www.ice2012.org.

The application sheet should be sent to us by July 20, 2012 via webmail: yjkwon@knu.ac.kr or FAX: (82)-53-950-5764. The list for selection result will be informed you by July 25, 2012.

▣ Yecheon County

Settled in valleys of Sobaek mountains surrounding the northern part of Gyeongbuk Province in Korean peninsula, Yecheon County has been derived from over 1200 years ago harmonized with traditional culture and natural environment.

Especially, the County is leading the environmentally friendly agriculture by producing superior crops and fruits thanks to the prime activities in researches as well as services offered from the Institute of the Industrial Entomology, which established for the first time in this country and has been played a role for Mecca of insect bio-industry.

Yecheon County is also served as a countryside dwelling region with friendly humanities and well reserved clear nature, intermingled with various tourism resources nearby and traditional culture originated in this area, locating 115 km north from Daegu.

Now, the County is providing the 2nd festival for the Insect Bio-Industry EXPO, since the first national scale ever held in 2007, for the support of the sustainable farming mentioned as above with the background of the inherited clear nature around this region.

▣ Yongmun-sa Temple

It was founded by Duwun-daesa (Buddhist monk) in 870 AD (10th year of King Gyeongmun, Shilla Dynasty), and was designated as a must-see by the Korea Tourism Corporation.

The temple has over millennial history and Daejangjeon' (national treasure No.145), the oldest wooden building built in 1173 (3rd year of King Myeongjong, Koryeo Dynasty).

It possesses Wunjangdae (national treasure No. 684), the only revolving-type of Buddhist scriptures storage in Korea, Mokbul- jwasang (wooden Buddhist statue) and Mokgaktaeng (wood craft, national treasure No. 989) carved on a jujube tree, and Sacheonwang-sangiljumun, which is larger than that of Bulguksa temple in Gyeongju, the millennium capital of Shilla Dynasty. It also has King Sejo's commandment, Yongmunsa-gyoji (national treasure No. 729), and many other treasures deposited in the temple museum.

According to a legend, King Taejo of the Koryeo Dynasty was visiting the Chief Monk, Duwun-daesa when suddenly two dragons appeared and led him to the temple. King Taejo named this site Mt. Yongmun (meaning dragon gate) and the temple Yongmun-sa, thereafter.

A temple stay program for group or family is available to taste a unique religious as well as folk culture.

Nearby, there is a pavilion 'Choganjeong' which built in 1582 by the scholar Munhae Kwon, who published 'Daedongwunbugunok' in 1589, the first encyclopedia ever in Korea.
